Winter Clearance Sale.

TO-DAY!

Whole newspapers would be insufficient for the Bargain Story. Your friend does not send a menu with your dinner invitation; nor do we with our Bargain bid. We simply hang up a few in the paper--our advertising space being limited--to set you looking, thinking, coming. Once here, a personal response to our invitation, and it is easy enough to accomplish what we set out to do, MOVE $50,000 WORTH OF MERCHANDISE IN A FEW WEEKS BY PRICE POWER. We cannot mention any particular quarter in our Stores where a Genuine Bargain is not to be found.

Here is the genuine New Hampshire plaid Horse Blanket, extra heavy and leather strapped, 89c.

White Blankets, regular size, for 75 cents. Larger sizes at 88 cents and $1.20.

Fancy flowered French Sateen Comfortables, lined with a genuine turkey-red print, and filled with the purest of white batting. Big enough to cover a big bed and tuck in generously. The only skimp is shown on the present price tag, $2.50--regular price in any market, $3.50.

ALL-WOOL SERGES,

One yard wide, in bronze, seal brown, navy blue, garnet, myrtle green, nile and black. Regular price, 50 cents a yard and good value. Present price, 28 cents a yard.

PLAID SERGES,

California—Rain, southwesterly winds, high in northern parts; slightly cold. Oregon and Washington—Rain and snow; southwesterly winds, high on east; slightly warmer.

THE RIVER CONVENTION.

To-morrow the River Convention will meet in this city. Trifles has the Reconvention expressed the hope that the Convention will not travel in its deliberations outside of the single purpose for which it was called—to wit, to memorialize Congress to set about the improvement of the navigation of the river by its systematic and comprehensive treatment for that purpose. While it is agreed that the outlets of the stream should be enlarged, the sloughs that once formed part of its delta be reopened, a waste way provided for the surplus waters, and the natural banks be protected to the extent of leveeing, and that perhaps some measures are necessary to prevent the descent of material now in the lower canyons of the tributaries of the Yuba and the Feather; all these are details which the Convention need not consider. Indeed, if it does take them up it will find itself floundering between the opinions of engineers, the prejudices of industries possibly affected, the widely differing views of men as to the causes and remedies, and the result will be a wady session that will by no means commend the body to Congress.

What is wanted is presentation to the National Legislature of the facts of the present condition of the stream compared with what it once was; the duty of the nation to care for the free highways of the people and the fact that Congress has never undertaken any substantial work upon California streams. No matter the causes for the filling of the Sacramento, the Feather and the Yuba; no matter what the local ideas may be concerning remedies, let us not project them into this Convention. And the reasons are strong and clear. It must be accepted that whatever the Government does it will do upon the report of its own Commission—and a Commission is one of the things that we should petition for. That such a Commission will not consider any testimony this Convention may advance, and, finally, that any recital of matters calculated to evoke protest, denial or scrupulous debate will effectually sap the memorial the Convention will send up. In short, it will be the height of folly to tolerate in the Convention any resolutions or speeches that will stir up strife or rub sore ones. Let the convocation adhere to the one thing of "Government treatment," leaving all the matters regarding methods and causes and remedies to the future and the Commission that all the people hope will be erected. Once commit Congress to the policy of treating the river for the purpose of restoring its capacity as a navigable stream, and enough will have been accomplished for the present.

The Mormon memorial to Congress in protest against the report of the Utah Commission, which is adverse to the admission of the Territory as a State, travels over well-worn ground. There is nothing new in it—there is nothing in it. The denials of the Church cannot stand against such infamies as the fact of plural marriage, the fact of the Mountain Meadow massacre, the fact of the domination of the Church over the temporal affairs of its devotees, and the fact that the priesthood dictates the politics of the average Mormon. If Church and State are to be kept apart in government, Utah must not be admitted until the Church ceases to be the chief factor in Utah politics.

As a mere matter of money-saving, it would pay the business men of this city to immediately put one street running east and one running northward, to the city limits in each case, in temporary good order, if nothing more than with rough planking. As the condition now is, the residents outside our bounds are actually barred out of the city. A wall of stone impassable by teams, could not more effectively exclude trade than do the extensions of streets above Twelfth to the east, and beyond to the north.

The favor with which Senator Stanford's bill for the fortification of the Pacific coast ports is received by the press and the people of this State indicates the depth of the sentiment prevailing, that something ought to be done, and very soon, to promote the end aimed at in the bill. We confess, however, to a grave fear that the present Congress will not act affirmatively in the matter. Such important measures into which politics do not enter, have to pass through a very long probationary period, as a rule.

ON what possible defense can the administrators of the law in England ground their prosecution of aristocrats implicated in the West End scandals, under initial instead of full names? They may say over the water a good many true bad things concerning the administration of justice in America; but we have never descended to the level of secrecy in Court concerning persons charged with heinous offenses.

UNEXPECTEDLY, the coming of Portugal by England has awakened a spirit of loyalty to the Crown in the former country, that for the time appears to have pushed the republican sentiment into the background. But, it may be, that this is due to pity, rather than an abiding love for monarchical institutions.

At last the Cronin murderers have reached the State Prison. "Little Kunze" has been granted a new trial, and this the judgment of the people will approve. Kunze should not have been convicted. He was not shown to have been related to the crime beyond such a doubt as to warrant his conviction.

The inventory just made of the personal property of Dom Pedro in Brazil, and which is subject to his order, discloses that his private wealth is by no means small, and that he will not suffer for even the luxuries of life if he cares to cash a few of his valuables.

STANLEY's reception by the Khedive was no more than the due of the great explorer. Egypt really owes more to Stanley than to any of the other nations of the globe.

John H. Stas, the great steamboat owner, is a keen-featured, level-headed man of muscular build, and among his claims to distinction he has ridden racehorses, kept a drug store and erected a mouseshoe. He has never failed in anything he has undertaken.

Over Fifteen Million Pounds Shipped Last Season—Sacramento in the Lead.

The annual meeting of the California Fruit Union was held yesterday at the cultural headquarters, Plat's Hall, San Francisco. A fairly large representation of stockholders, Secretary H. E. Fairbank submitted a long report for the Board of Directors, giving a concise history of the union's work during the year. Following are extracts from the report, as published in last evening's Bulletin:

"The shipping season was cut short by the early rains of October, so that while our first car left San Lorenzo May 15th, the last car did not leave until the 1st of the year preceding—the last car was started from Vacaville, November 15th—one day earlier than in 1888, and eleven days in advance of the final car of the season of 1887.

"The cherry shipments were quite heavy, some twelve full carloads being forwarded, in addition to which nearly two more were sent East in small lots through the Union. The prices obtained were in the main quite satisfactory, and the average net per ton being a trifle over 9 cents.

APRICOTS AND PEACHES.

"Apricots were shipped in larger quantities than ever before, as up to the 15th of June the books show that we had dispatched thirty-two full carloads. The contents of these carloads were packed on the stems very well, but those from the extreme East turned out only poor, quite so that we are extremely doubtful if this fruit can ever be successfully sold in the market.

"The peach shipments were quite heavy, some twelve full carloads being forwarded, in addition to which nearly two more were sent East in small lots through the Union. The prices obtained were in the main quite satisfactory, and the average net per ton being a trifle over 9 cents.

PEACHES AND GRAPES.

"Apricots were shipped in larger quantities than ever before, as up to the 15th of June the books show that we had dispatched thirty-two full carloads. The contents of these carloads were packed on the stems very well, but those from the extreme East turned out only poor, quite so that we are extremely doubtful if this fruit can ever be successfully sold in the market.

"The peach shipments were quite heavy, some twelve full carloads being forwarded, in addition to which nearly two more were sent East in small lots through the Union. The prices obtained were in the main quite satisfactory, and the average net per ton being a trifle over 9 cents.

WALKER BLAINE'S SUDDEN DEATH

Successful Reception Given by Senator Stanford—Revenue Officers Commissioned.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

WALKER BLAINE DEAD.

A Brilliant Young Man Got Down in the Prime of His Manhood.

WASHINGTON, January 15th.—Walker
Blaine died at 8:20 o'clock this evening.
His death was very sudden and peaceful.
So sudden was it that the family was unable to return to his bedside before he died.

Walker Blaine was the eldest living son of Secretary and Mrs. Blaine, and was born in 1855, being in his thirty-fifth year at the time of his death.

He always had been closely connected with his father ever since he became of age, and at the beginning of this administration was appointed Solicitor of Claims in the State Department, which position he filled with great credit.

He was unmarried. On Friday last he was attacked by a gripe, but was doing well until yesterday, when symptoms of acute pneumonia appeared and his condition became serious.

The Senate then took up the calendar and passed the following bills: Granting to the State of Oregon a sum of $1,000,000 to be used in ranges 5 and 6 east of the Willamette meridian, for a public park.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral, but it is understood that the remains
will be taken to Augusta, Me., for interment,
to-morrow night.

AUSTRALIAN SYSTEM.

Belief That a Law Will be Passed Inducing the Australian System.

WASHINGTON, January 15th.—The Star says the House Committee on the Election of President and Vice-President is to get to work on the proposed Federal election law to-morrow.

The Secretary and his family are completely prostrated. This is the third death in the family within a month. First Mrs.
Blaine, then the Secretary's brother, and now Walker Blaine.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral, but it is understood that the remains
will be taken to Augusta, Me., for interment,
to-morrow night.

IN THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, January 15th.—In the House after a personal examination by a committee of the House, it was voted to pass the law, having been charged by the National Butter and Egg Association with an attempt to fix the price of eggs.

Showing that the bill was in favor of the members for their lost wages.
